Recovery Partners

After completing her Bachelor of Science (Psychology), Liza spent four years providing Occupational Rehabilitation services within the NSW Worker's Compensation and Centrelink, before she joined the Recovery Partners' team.

Liza has developed an ability to manage Worker's Compensation claims effectively, using a professional approach to supporting workers during a time of vocational change. Liza has a natural ability to easily build rapport with individuals from various backgrounds and demonstrates a passion to helping others, having volunteered her services working for Lifeline for a number of years.

Liza believes continually involving an injured worker in the rehabilitation process provides a sense of support and control when setting vocational goals and engages them to be actively involved in their own rehabilitation.

Liza has many interests in life including music and art and enjoys travel and the great outdoors.
